Winery Profile

Yorkville Cellars is a small, family-run winery founded by proprietors, Deborah and Edward Wallo. It is located 100 miles north of the Golden Gate Bridge in the Yorkville Highlands Appellation (AVA), which was established in 1998. It rests in southern Mendocino County adjacent to the Anderson Valley (much cooler) to the northwest and the Alexander Valley (slightly hotter) to the southeast.

Yorkville Cellars is the only known winery that grows all eight of the main Bordeaux grapes and then bottles each individually as a varietal each vintage: Sauvignon Blanc, Semillon, Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot, Cabernet Franc, Carmenere, Malbec, and Petit Verdot. (Probably the one place on earth where one can taste these side-by-side where the grapes were all grown with the same viticultural practices within the same terroir.) With rare exceptions all wines produced are estate vineyard designated.

Yorkville Vineyards have been certified organic since 1986 and does not use pesticides, herbicides or chemical fertilizers. Every day is Earth Day here! Yorkville Cellars has won more medals than the 100 or so other California wineries mentioning organic grapes on their labels. In the last decade 446 medals have been awarded in major wine competitions in California. Yorkville Cellars has also received national recognition including several "Top 100 Wines of the Year" listings, as well as accolades from top wine critics. This reflects a commitment to making fine wines that reflect Mendocino County's unique sense of place.
